

HELP with CHIN UP Buttercup!

Q: Which font should I install , OTF or TTF?

A : If you have Opentype Capable software such as Photoshop CC, any version of Illustrator, Indesign, Word (new versions) or any other software that is capable of accessing the extra characters in Opentype fonts, you should install the OTF version in order to be able to easily access the ligatures and extra characters (from the Glyphs panel or from the Character panel/opentype features panels).

If you don't have any Opentype capable software, you can install either version you prefer - there is not much difference visually with this particular font.

Q: How do I install the fonts onto my machine?

A : A handy guide on how to install fonts properly can be found here:

A: Yes you may. The only two cases in which webfont use is prohibited without additional licensing is

1.) When the font is to be used LIVE on the Webserver, where other people who visit the website can edit the words written with the font (Such as a Customizable greeting card website for example) - For this you will require a " Custom Creation License"

2.) When the font is to be used in Web Templates for sale or distribution.

Q: Can I use this pack in my mobile app?

A: You may use this pack in your app ONLY IF THE TEXT IS FLAT and part of a design. You may not use the font LIVE in a mobile app (where users can create custom words with the Font) - For this you require an "App License" and a "Custom Creation License". You may not use the illustrations as a feature in your mobile app.
